My opening writing:

As she sat on her bed stroking her cat, Chloe, Hailey wondered what her next adventure would be. Everyday had been an adventure since Hailey and her parents had moved to Willsborough almost three years ago. To her parents, Hailey was just a very social 15 year old girl but in reality, she and her besties were secret agents that worked for a multi millionaire. Hailey hopped off her bed, put on her favourite slippers and slid down the stair railing to the dining table. Before breakfast she laid out Chloe's food and water in her favourite mug, the one with the owls. Just as she sat down to eat, Hailey looked out the window to see her besties waving at her, her next adventure had begun.
