My opening writing:

She was wearing her favourite pair of shoes. Her converse highs, they were so stylish yet so comfortable. Moving your eyes up, in her delicate fragile hand she was holding a pepsi max, sipping it exactly every 10 seconds, no more no less. She stared through the window into what seemed to be another world. The cold icy habitat of penguins. Penguins were her favourite animal, she wanted one as a child but it was quite unrealistic as she lived in an apartment.
